

Pinal County Dust Control Forecast

Issued: Tuesday, July 5, 2016

Five-Day Weather Outlook:

A very slight chance at Monsoon fueled storms over southeastern Arizona the next day or two will bring an outside possibility for outflow winds and some blowing dust that may make its way into the county. That said, the dust risk forecast remains in the moderate category. The Monsoon will take a break as this week progresses as southwesterly to westerly flow aloft takes over and brings dry conditions with seasonably hot temperatures. The forecasted dust risk for the next five days will be in the moderate category as the highest forecasted site (Hidden Valley) is expected to have elevated levels of PM10 though not quite to the levels of exceeding the health standard.

Forecaster: S. DiBiase

Wed, 7/6/2016	Thu, 7/7/2016	Fri, 7/8/2016	Sat, 7/9/2016	Sun, 7/10/2016
Winds Light winds becoming southwest 5-15 mph, stronger gusts possible near outflows	Winds Light winds becoming southwest 5-15 mph	Winds Light winds becoming southwest to west 5-12 mph	Winds Light winds becoming southwest to west 5-15 mph, gusts to 20 mph	Winds Light winds becoming southwest to west 5-15 mph
Stagnation Light stagnation	Stagnation Light stagnation	Stagnation Light stagnation	Stagnation Light stagnation	Stagnation Light stagnation
Risk Level Moderate	Risk Level Moderate	Risk Level Moderate	Risk Level Moderate	Risk Level Moderate

Last Update: Tue, Jul. 5, 2016, 09:54 AM

<http://pinalcountyaz.gov/Legacy/AirQual/pdf/Forecast/aqforecast.pdf>